

Ethan Don Interviews About National Labor Relations Board Ruling

Former Associate Ethan Don was interviewed for a story on Lawyers USA Online in conjunction with the recent National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) ruling that a company policy requiring employees to keep interviews related to internal investigations confidential was in violation of federal labor laws.

He provided the article's lead quote and offered helpful insights into how attorneys should conduct a "case by case analysis" as to how far the confidentiality needs to be extended.

The full article, "NLRB advice on confidential investigations has lawyers reading tea leaves," can be found on the Lawyers USA Online website.

Ethan's blog, "NLRB Offers Guidelines on Confidential Investigations," can be found on our Blog page.