

Three Paley Rothman Attorneys Host Webinar on “Social Media in the Workplace”

Hope Eastman, Jim Hammerschmidt and former Associate Ethan Don of Paley Rothman’s Employment Law practice group recently hosted a webinar on “Social Media in the Workplace.”

The presentation generated considerable interest from employers concerned that their current employment policies, practices and procedures are not keeping up with the ever-changing social media world, potentially leaving them vulnerable to lawsuits or the risk of governmental action. The webinar examined the latest developments and short-term future of social media and provided participants with useful tips on social media policy drafting. The recorded webinar and presentation materials can be found on our Webinars page.