

Tracey Coates Joins the Board of Directors at DCVLP

After volunteering for the DC Volunteer Lawyers Project for the past four years, Tracey Coates will join its Board of Directors.

The DC Volunteer Lawyers Project is a non-profit that provides training supervision and support to thousands of volunteer attorneys who have provided pro bono legal assistance to thousands of domestic violence victims and at-risk children in the District of Columbia.

Sara Tennen, Legal Director at DCVLP, welcomes Tracey to the Board. "I cannot say enough positive things about Ms. Coates. Our clients have benefited enormously from her outstanding representation. We are lucky to have her."

Tracey Coates is Co-Chair of the firm's Family Law department and a member of its Litigation practice group.
